Pyrenean Shepherd Breed Standard

Herding Group

General Appearance

A small, sinewy, lean, lively dog whose sparkling personality and quicksilver intelligence are reflected in the vibrant expression of his unique triangular head and windswept face. A superb athlete, his beautiful, flowing gait "shaves the earth." Uncoiffed, light-boned and built as a horizontal rectangle, his high energy and intelligent, cunning, mischievous attitude show that he is always on alert, suspicious, ready for action. An ardent herder of all kinds of livestock, his vigilant attitude and great vivacity of movement give this little dog a highly singular gait and appearance, characteristic of no other breed. The Pyr Shep is naturally distrustful of strangers, but when well-socialized from a young age, he or she has a very lively, cheerful disposition. The two varieties, Smooth-Faced and Rough-Faced (including both demi-long and long-haired coat types) are born in the same litters.

Soft Coated Wheaten Terrier Breed Standard

Terrier Group

General Appearance

The Soft Coated Wheaten Terrier is a medium-sized, hardy, well balanced sporting terrier, square in outline. He is distinguished by his soft, silky, gently waving coat of warm wheaten color and his particularly steady disposition. The breed requires moderation both in structure and presentation, and any exaggerations are to be shunned. He should present the overall appearance of an alert and happy animal, graceful, strong and well coordinated.

Approved August 10, 2009

Effective September 30, 2009

Health:

If you have a dog that is prone to Motion Sickness there is a very good article at <http://www.doggedhealth.com/component/content/1556.html?task=view>

It lists the causes of motion sickness, tells you about a new drug Cerenia and has a link to for more info regarding motion sickness and non medical ways to relieve it.

People food that is toxic to dogs:

There are a number of foods that we eat that are toxic to our dogs. One of these that we do not usually think of is raisins/grapes. See the article at <http://www.snopes.com/critters/crusader/raisins.asp>. It also has a reminder of some other foods that are toxic.
